SAW A BULL FIGHT

HYSTERICAL AND FAINTING WOMEN WITNESS SPANISH PASTIME.

NO SUIT CASE FOR A WEEK

Readers of The Democrat-Forum are expressing appreciation of the European letters of Miss Mae Corwin of this city. The communication following is a continuation of the letter in Monday's paper, under date of June 27, from Madrid:

I do not know whether I spoke of the peculiar European meals. Coffee and bread and butter in the morning. Breakfast at noon, consisting of several courses, always beginning with an egg omelet and having several meats with very few vegetables. The latter is served as a separate course, with change of plates, unless simply a garnish. They have some delicious dishes, but cook entirely in olive oil, have neither lard or butter, so that rather spoiled our enjoyment of them at first. We are now getting used to it. Spain is a butterless land, you know. In large cities they give us a kind of unsalted and usually very powerful butter for early coffee, and at this half American hotel for breakfast also. But that is not Spanish custom.

We saw the great national game at Seville, after attending mass in the morning at the wonderful cathedral. I shall not attempt to describe cathedrals, much less churches. You will understand when I say we have seen four cathedrals in the six cities we have visited and gone to as many as four or five churches. Last Sunday morning we attended 10 o'clock mass at the Toledo cathedral, then looked in on mass at three others. Here in Madrid there are only art galleries and the palace, no churches.

* * *

I think I started to tell about the great fight or national game of Spain. Well, we saw all the populace going in one direction, evidently on pleasure bent, so joined the throng, twenty-four strong, leaving only one fearful one behind. We purchased little fans for a fourth of a penny from boys who clung to your skirts until you did, then the cushions of shavings, paper covered, and crowded through the entrance and climbed the high stone steps to seat ourselves on the feet of the unfortunates above, just like we do at our base ball games. By 5 o'clock, when the procession entered the arena, that whole circular amphitheater was jammed full of people. Some had been seated in the hot sun for an hour. The procession came to a stand beside us to salute the city officials, who were up near where we were. I have several pictures. Stood up and took them all during the first round of the fight.

The colors and rich trappings of matadors and toreadors were simply splendid. No wonder this nation likes its amusements. The dancers wear really beautiful clothes. Skirts of a gorgeous color worked in gold thread in lovely designs, and shawls of another color, beautifully embroidered, with silk fringe a half yard long.

To continue with the fight: The first bull was rather small and not very fierce. When he came out of the entrance the horses were stationed around the sides of the arena at certain intervals. He made for one quite rapidly and gored it, throwing the rider, who scrambled over the fence like a monkey.

At sight of the horse Cousin Rachel went into a violent fit of hysterical weeping. She caused much more commotion among the Spaniards than the fight. They brought water, and by signs told her to cover her face, and seemed much concerned. Cousin George began scolding her and then yelled for aqua (water), and when I begged him to be still, discovered the girl on the other side of him was almost fainting.

That first round really was the worst, for they made the horses get up again when they had been disemboweled. In the two following fights the

WHAT COMPANY F IS DOING.

Are Very Strict in Camp Near Nevada About Cleanliness of Members.

Camp Rumbold, Nevada, Mo., Sunday, July 14.—Company F is now located in one of the most sanitary camps of instruction in the United States. Everything is as clean as could be possible for it to be, and they are very particular about the grub, not allowing it to be exposed to the flies. Nothing is served while cold but must be warmed first.

Everyone has all the ice cold water they want at all times during the day.

They are also very strictly enforcing individual sanitation. Each man must take a bath once a day, best of care taken of the teeth, finger nails manicured and no one is allowed to drink from any cup other than his own or use any dishes but his own individual mess kit. All the bedding is well aired each day and the company street is policed twice each day, every match, stick and piece of paper is picked up and burned.

We Company F boys are certainly living up to the rules, and many a Maryville mother who has to hunt up her son's collar buttons and find his ties for him each time he goes calling on his lady friend would be greatly surprised to see what he really can do for himself when Uncle Sam gets after him. While writing this letter we can hear our Maryville friends Albert Butherus and Lawrence Shanks tuning up with the Fourth Regiment band, while Ned Atherton is sweating over his snare drum. The band sure had tough luck this trip, as all the company tents were pitched, but the band had to pitch their own tents. Slim Butherus sure proved himself a handy man with the 16-pound sledge hammer. The band boys say he drove 196 tent pins in 200 minutes, which we claim is going some for a light weight like Slim.

The company boys are resting up today, since they have no drills on Sunday. However, Bugler Charley Wilson and a few others hit the timber to practice up for a strenuous week of windjamming.

INVITES LOCAL CARS TO JOIN.

Good Roads Party With State Highway Engineer Hill to Be in Maryville Wednesday.

The state board of agriculture, with Curtis Hill, state highway engineer, will be in Maryville Wednesday and will be guests of the Maryville Commercial club at dinner at the Linville hotel. The party is scheduled to arrive at 11:40 o'clock a. m., and will leave Maryville at 1 o'clock and go to Pickering, Hopkins, Clearmont, Burlington Junction and Tarkio.

Local cars are invited to join the tour, which has for its object to boost and agitate good roads, and also to better acquaint the state board with road conditions here. Drivers of local cars are requested to always drop in at the rear of the line of cars.

RETURNED FROM WASHINGTON.

W. C. VanCleve Home From Capital City, Where He Has Been for Several Months.

W. C. VanCleve, one of the editors of The Democrat-Forum, returned to Maryville Sunday night from Washington, D. C., where he has been one of the bill clerks during the present session of congress. Congress will probably adjourn about August 1, said Mr. VanCleve. Mr. VanCleve has been away for the past eight months. Mrs. VanCleve and their sons, Kenneth and William, stopped on their way to Maryville at LaGrange, Mo., and next week will visit Mr. VanCleve's parents in Moberly, then home.

Returned From Baltimore Convention.

Harry M. Irwin returned Monday morning from his eastern trip. He was an alternate from this congressional district to the Democratic national convention at Baltimore, and after the convention he visited in Washington, D. C., New York City and at Chicago.

Here From Idaho.

Visiting in Clyde.

N. Sturm and his little granddaughter went to Clyde Tuesday, and while Mr. Sturm attended to business matters, Mayme visited her cousins, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Sturm.

Dale Whitehurst was in Arkoe Monday evening on business.

Judge B. F. Gilmore of Gaynor was in the city Monday.

BOOSTING BARNARD

TWO HOT POLITICAL DAYS

Democrats and Both Brands of Republicans Will Have Opportunity to Present Political Views.

A party of seventy-five people from Barnard arrived in Maryville Monday noon on an advertising tour for the Barnard annual picnic, which will be held August 1, 2 and 3.

The tourists will cover 100 miles on their trip, which includes the towns of Graham, Maitland, Skidmore, Quitman, Wilcox, Maryville, Parnell, Ravenwood, Stanberry, King City, Whitesville, Rea, Rosendale and Bolckow.

Attorney B. Raleigh Martin of St. Joseph is the speaker, who is presenting the program for each day and otherwise boosting for the Barnard picnic.

The first day will be State Normal day, under the direction of President H. K. Taylor of that institution.

The next two days will be given over to political speakers, who will discuss the political issues of the day from the viewpoint of the Democrat, the Republican and the Progressive.

All the cars used on this tour are the Reo, and were purchased of the Campbell-Pollard Automobile company of Barnard. The owners of the cars are in the party and are Dwight Davis, T. L. Goff, Dr. M. M. Pollard, Walter Campbell, Sam Conlin, Dr. J. A. Larrabee, John Fields, Warren Campbell, Campbell & Pollard, Emil Culver, Floyd Westfall, all of Barnard; Lewis Sargent, Jr., of Bolckow, and John Howitt and Dave Gebhart of Whitesville.

After speaking and music on the court house square, the Barnardites drove to the State Normal and were guests of President Taylor a short time.

BEDISON MAN HURT.

Hay Fork Dropped Thirty Feet and Struck John Kidd.

Dr. Will Wallis was called to Bedison Tuesday forenoon to attend John Kidd, a well known farmer, who had been painfully hurt by a hay fork that dropped a distance of thirty feet upon him and struck him broadside on the shoulder blade. A gash was cut that required a stitch or two to close up. The injury is not serious, but Mr. Kidd certainly had a narrow escape.

Back From Chicago.

Dr. G. A. Nash of this city and Dr. F. M. Ryan of Quitman returned Saturday night from their week's trip to Chicago, where they spent the entire week at Cook county hospital. Dr. Nash was called to Falls City, Neb., Sunday to consult with Dr. I. N. Houston, a brother of Mrs. Nash, in regard to the condition of Dr. Houston's daughter, Miss Rill Houston, who is seriously ill.

Returned From Wisconsin.

Edgar Hull and his sister, Miss Mura, returned Sunday morning from a two weeks' visit with relatives in Milwaukee and other cities in Wisconsin. Miss Hull went to Bolckow with the Baptist delegation that went to that place Sunday morning for the laymen's meeting that closed Sunday night.

Visiting in Iowa.

Mrs. G. W. Swinford and her son, W. H. Swinford, went to Tingley, Ia., Saturday for a few days' visit with the families of J. H. Steinkamp and E. Breckenridge, and at Blockton with W. M. Wright and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Armstrong of East Second street left Tuesday morning for a visit of a few weeks. Mrs. Armstrong will visit the family of her son, Ed Muntz, in St. Joseph, while Mr. Armstrong goes to Madrid, Neb., to visit his sister, Mrs. B. C. Vroman, and two nieces, Mrs. Peck and Mrs. Ritter.

WAS NOT HIS WIFE

MRS. MARTZ HAD KNOWLEDGE MARTZ WAS NOT DIVORCED.

THE CHARGE DWINDLES

Prospects for Punishment of Man in County Jail Grow Less as His Unsavory Past Comes to Light.

After Prosecuting Attorney Wright had talked to Mrs. Alfred Martz at St. Francis hospital Tuesday morning, Mr. Wright said that a charge of adultery, in addition to the wife abandonment charge, would be issued against Martz. Mrs. Martz was rather undecided whether to prosecute Martz or not, saying to Mr. Wright that she would rather wait until she could see him.

Mrs. Martz also admitted that she was never married to Martz. It took Mr. Wright some time to get this admission, as at first Mrs. Martz denied everything. But she finally told her story and said that Martz intended to marry her as soon as he secured a divorce from his former wife.

The case is a puzzle here to officials, as this is the first one of its kind ever up.

That Martz has another wife at Ottumwa, Ia., seems to be certain, or is at least admitted to be a fact by Mrs. Martz. Martz always said that he would get a divorce from his wife at Ottumwa, but he never did. He has been separated from her for a number of years.

In case Mrs. Martz would not prosecute Martz, Prosecuting Attorney Wright would have a hard time to go ahead with the matter. Mrs. Martz told Mr. Wright that Mr. Martz had been very good to her and the children, attending to their wants.

Mrs. Martz was formerly a resident near Villisca, Ia. It was at that place that she first met Martz, who then claimed that he was a single man. This was over four years ago. They were on their way to Villisca when Martz secured the job as painter in this city under B. P. Lemon, to visit relatives of Mrs. Martz.

PROF. HOOPER MARRIED.

Was Wedded at Chillicothe on May 23 to Miss Letha Iva Reynolds of Breckenridge, Mo.

County Superintendent Oakerson received Tuesday morning an announcement stating that Miss Letha Iva Reynolds, a daughter of Mrs. Radie Reynolds of Breckenridge, Mo., and Prof. David D. Hooper of the Barnard schools were married at Chillicothe, May 23, by Rev. John H. Hubbard. They will be at home after September 1 at Barnard, where Prof. Hooper is principal of the schools.

Mrs. William Reifenrath and children and her sister, Miss Tillie Quast, who have been guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Blatter for several weeks, left Tuesday for their new home in Windthorst, province of Saskatchewan, Canada, where Mr. Reifenrath has land. Miss Gertrude Quast, who is also visiting here, accompanied them as far as Conception, then went to the St. Benedictine convent at Clyde to visit the Sisters.

Advertising the Chautauqua.

Lona Perrin made a trip to Maitland, Graham and Skidmore Tuesday afternoon, piloted by Harold Staples in his car, distributed advertising matter for the Maryville Chautauqua. They are accompanied by Mrs. P. O. Landon and sons.

Orlo Quinn is making the towns of Parnell, Ravenwood, Conception and Orrsburg on the same errand, with Charles Moore as pilot.

Miss Albert Still at Hospital.

Miss Ada Albert is not yet able to leave the hospital, where she was taken nine days ago. She is getting along nicely, however, the malaria from which she was suffering is broken and she will be able to go home before many days.

Harold Ford in Town.

Harold Ford of Houston, Texas., arrived in Maryville Monday night on a vacation visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ford of South Main street. Mr. Ford represents the H. Birge Wall Paper company of Buffalo, N. Y.

Misses Juanita and Lefa Nixon and Helen Carter of Jamesport, who have been visiting the Misses Nixon's sister, Mrs. Ed Rickard of Pickering, returned home Monday.

TOMORROW IS BARGAIN DAY.

Wednesday is going to be a big day in Maryville for out-of-town visitors. The merchants have offered some unusual bargains, and in addition to this a fine entertainment has been provided for the visitors. If you don't come to Maryville tomorrow you will miss something.

TWO MONTHS' TRIP.

The Long Route of Rev. and Mrs. Joel B. Hayden and Rev. Kenneth Miller on Leaving U. S.

On August 21 Rev. and Mrs. Joel B. Hayden will sail from New York on the Austro-American liner Martha Washington, in company with Mr. Hayden's co-worker and former classmate, Mr. Kenneth D. Miller.

The trip will be an extensive one. The first stop will be the Azores. From there they go to Algiers, Naples, Patras Greece, Trieste and Venice. At Venice they will take an express boat and make the trip south along the Dalmatian coast. This trip is the most beautiful water and scenic trip in the world.

Next they will cross the Balkan states, traveling by boat, rail, autobus and ox cart.

Following this they will visit Agran, Budapesth, and go down the Danube to Vienna. Cracow, in Austrian-Poland, will be their next stop, from where they will go to Warsaw, in Russian-Poland, and finally to Prague, Bohemia, reaching the latter some time in October.

Rev. Hayden will begin his regular work in Prague the first of November, but will go from there to Warsaw on the first of January.

Rev. and Mrs. Hayden expect to spend Christmas in Dresden.

Rev. Hayden filled the pulpit of the First Methodist church Sunday morning. The topic of his sermon was "The Religion of Jesus." In it he took the stand that the church must teach the religion of Jesus and not about Jesus. That is, the church must teach of Jesus by doing for the people as He would have done.

Rev. Hayden next emphasized the fact that the church must reach the masses of the people, and before then must stand for the absolute fulfillment of the law, both moral and statutory.

He then said that the church must follow the example of Christ in the sermon on the mount. It must act in the first person, must speak with authority, and must find out about its subject before it speaks.

Finally, Rev. Hayden demanded that the church of today be sincere. It must meet intellectual, scientific and social progress in a fair manner, and deal with them accordingly.

CUBS WON FROM ATHLETICS.

In the Normal Base Ball Tournament—Score Was 1 to 0.

Standing of the Teams.

	Won.	Lost.	Pr.ct
Giants	6	4	.600
Cubs	6	5	.545
Athletics	6	5	.545
Pirates	3	7	.300

Too much Ham spelled defeat for the Cubs Monday afternoon, when the Athletics nosed out the Cubs in an airtight pitchers' battle by a count of 1 to 0. The lanky Athletic twirled a great game for the winners, allowing but two safe swats. Not a Cub reached third base. But he was not a bit better than his opponent on the mound, one "Shylock" Wilson. The Jew never would have been counted on but for an error, coupled with the only hit that he allowed in the last inning. In this round Ham got to first on Simpson's error and scored when Cooper hit safely to right.

The next game of the tournament will be Wednesday between the Giants and Pirates.

Visiting at Blockton.

Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Wright and their visiting daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Edwin Conklin, of Douglas, Kan., and Miss Gertrude Wright and Master Simeon are visiting Mr. Wright's brother, W. M. Wright, and family at Blockton, Ia.

Guest From Kansas City.

Mrs. John W. Tompson of Kansas City arrived Saturday night on a visit to her sister, Mrs. B. E. Condon, and family, and is also the guest of her niece, Mrs. Frank L. Garrett.

Here From Portland.

Mrs. Earl E. Crabb of Portland, Ore., who is on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Alexander, went to Darlington Monday to visit Mr. Crabb's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Crabb.

DEATH OF A CHILD.

Physicians Disagree as to Cause of Death of Daughter of James Seals.

The 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Seals, living on South Dewey street, died Tuesday afternoon at a little past 1 o'clock, after a five days' illness, on the nature of which the physicians disagree.

The child had been ill ever since last Thursday noon, after eating a piece of bologna at dinner. A physician was called and it was at first thought she was poisoned. On Sunday her condition was very bad, and Drs. F. M. and Viles Martin and Dr. J. H. Todd pronounced it spinal meningitis.

City Physician A. T. Fisher was called and he gave it as his opinion that the case was that of auto-intoxication, caused by the bologna.

The family is in great need of help. The father is in poor health and the mother unable to do more than she is now doing for her family. There are two other small children.

bulls were large and fierce and killed the horses at once. We left in small groups at the end of each round until Cousin Polly and about five girls beside me remained with Mr. Watson at the end of the third. Cousin George returned from taking Rachael home and stayed for the last three. He said the last two were too wary for the toreador, and when not stabbed were returned to the stable. Raising the animals for these fights is a great vocation in this part of the country, and all of the cattle are huge. The rider who fails to kill his bull is held in disgrace for life.

We are dealing in palaces mostly now. Saw a beautiful royal hunting park and chateau at Aranjuez, called the Versailles of Spain. Nearby the huge palace and gardens repose, but the present king goes to the northwest corner of Spain, because the English queen prefers that, and the glory of this fine place has departed. He comes to the little chateau about once a year for rest. It is lovely. The walls covered with hand-embroidered silk paper and all the furniture to match, low-backed chairs beautifully carved, and the ceilings painted by some of the finest of Spanish artists. A tiny music room contains a music box, and the billiard room is almost filled by the immense table. There were dozens of these beautiful small rooms, each containing several elaborate clocks on marble topped tables (wedding presents, we guessed). One would go mad if the things ever all run at once.

Am trying to write this on the train as we go out of the Escorial, and these trains have any scenic railway in the world beaten for rough riding. So can't ever tell just what this pen is going to do.

Wednesday afternoon we went through Sovolla's house. He happened to be at home and seemed delighted. He served us with the first real lemonade we have had. The house is new and very large, built with American money, they claim. He has a small garden in front with fountain and paved walks, at the side a larger one with gravel walks. Inside is the usual patio, of which he is very proud. Many of the great pictures we saw in Chicago looked down from the studio walls like old friends. His dining room (not finished) he is decorating with a border of fruits, Spanish jugs and the pictures of his wife and three children. The oldest daughter is quite an artist. We saw the younger and senora, both small and very dark. He kissed Mr. Watson on cheek and forehead in greeting and adieux, according to their custom, then shook hands and said good-bye to the rest.

Our time has been quite full these days in Madrid, and the events are hard to describe. Yesterday morning Cousins George and Polly and I took a ride while the class were doing more art galleries. We drove to the royal palace first, and were just in time to see the queen with the little light prince and her escort come out to ride. She had a mounted officer on each side of her open carriage and two carriages with officials following. The military costumes of these military people are striking and gorgeous, and they take themselves very seriously. The queen looked young and pretty and very fair-haired. She wore a light straw hat with lace leaves standing up in the back and a quite plain white dress. The little prince looked like any other small boy. Mr. Watson happened there a little later, and, seeing the crowd gather, looking about we saw the king start out driving in his auto.

After that we saw what the Frenchman called the treasury, really the administration building. We saw the senate chamber, where the president, with two secretaries on each hand, sits with a glass protector behind his back. The throne is behind him at the end, but he is removed when the royal couple are there.

They showed us a library, of which all the fixtures were finely wrought iron, where was the original map used by Columbus. There are several statues and pictures of him throughout the building.

All the ministerial and senatorial committee rooms are finely furnished, silk and velvet wall drapery, with couch and chairs to match.

* * *

Well, I must cease this writing as we approach our destination. We return to Madrid, then make Targossa, a monastery to which we make a twelve-mile drive into the mountains for a couple of days, then another two at Monserratt, which is a high mountain with a very interesting old monastery, where we are furnished cells or apartments for groups of six, with charcoal stoves to prepare our own meals. We do not see our suit cases again for a week. I bought a woven lunch basket of considerable size for a handbag, as the suit case was too large. This holds a lot and is light. Am still feeling fine and seeing everything, but rest more than the others do.

Over 2200 a Day

The circulation of the Daily Democrat-Forum for no publication day in July has been less than 2200 copies. Except for the first week in July it has been over that number.

A number of times in the past on single days, when some unusual reason existed, more than 2200 papers were circulated, but we are now issuing every day more than that number.

There has only been one month in the past year that the circulation of the paper did not show a handsome increase over that of the preceding month and the bona fide every day circulation of the Democrat-Forum is greater right now than it ever was before.

In advertising there are two things to be considered: Quantity and Quality. The Democrat-Forum presents its claim to quantity with the assertion that it has the largest circulation of any paper in Nodaway or any of the surrounding counties—it openly states its circulation figures believing the advertiser has the same right to know what he is buying when he purchases advertising as when he buys food or clothing. As to the quality of our circulation there can be no question. The paper is read—and read with interest—by the wideawake, the progressive and intelligent part of the population of the county. No unusual means have been taken to stimulate the growth of the paper, no prizes, no contests, no cut prices. It has been a healthy, steady growth, an appreciation of a real, live, fair, newsy paper by the people.

It is from the use of such mediums that the best results in advertising are obtained. We have the medium, reaching the very people you want to talk to. Will you overlook your opportunity.

COTTON WEAVERS REFUSE TO WORK

TWENTY MILLS ARE AFFECTED

Loom Fixers Endorse Strike and May Also Go Out—Trouble Followed Posting of Notices Announcing New Plan of Grading.

New Bedford, Mass., July 16.—Fourteen thousand union weavers, employed in twelve of the great cotton manufactories here, went on strike. Twenty mills are affected.

The strike followed votes of the New Bedford Weavers' union and of the Industrial Workers of the World.

The Industrial Workers of the World and the United Textile Workers are cambined for the struggle.

The loom fixers' union voted to indorse the strike and to strike independently in the Dartmouth mills on grievances of their own. Francis P. Duffy is secretary of the weavers' union and will be in charge of the strike.

Object to Grade Plan.

The trouble follows the posting of grading notices in many plants. The grading system, so-called, is a plan under which weavers received only 60 per cent as much for goods ranked as second class as they do for goods ranked first class.

The weavers contend that, in many cases, how the goods are classified depends on the quality of the cotton or the machines they use, rather than on their own work.

The weavers average a weekly wage of about $9. Sometimes as much as $2 has been cut from their wage by the grading system. The reductions were divided, every six months, among the weavers working during that period.

Employers Refuse to Change.

This plan was not satisfactory to them and a demand was made for a change. The Manufacturers' association, of which William O. Devoll is secretary, voted to refuse the demand and the strike vote followed.

The New Bedford authorities have planned rigorous measures to prevent disorder. Chief Henry W. Mason has issued orders that policemen will be allowed no days off or vacations while the trouble lasts, and extra guards were on hand all day to watch the mills.

The strikers had picket lines out; crowds gathered at each mill and efforts were made to induce other operatives to join the strike.

FRISCO ROAD MAY BE OUSTED

Failure to Pay Charter Fees in Kansas on New Stock Sold Threatens Trouble.

Topeka, July 16.—John S. Dawson, attorney general, went to Wichita for a conference with R. R. Vermillion, general attorney for the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, relative to a probable ouster suit against the railroad for failure to pay its charter fees. The Frisco is an old railroad in Kansas, and had authority to transact business in the state under an old law.

New laws were enacted, but the company failed to pay its charter fees, and Fred S. Jackson, then attorney general, brought an ouster suit to collect the fees on $100,000,000 of new capital stock the company had authorized. The supreme court held that while the stock had been authorized it had not been sold and dismissed the suit.

The state charter board learned that the Frisco had sold this new stock and asked the attorney general to begin a new ouster suit to collect the fees due the state on this new money that goes into the property.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 16.—Michigan Central train No. 3, New York to Chicago, left the rails near Kalamazoo. Despite its speed of sixty miles an hour, no one was killed and but one passenger was injured dangerously. The latter is Mrs. C. Malody, 39 years old, Chicago, who, it is believed, is internally injured.

Two Killed in a Buggy.

St. Louis, July 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson of Valley Park, Mo., were killed when a Missouri Pacific passenger train struck the buggy in which they were riding. The accident was witnessed by a score of persons, who vainly shouted warnings as the train approached.

Conference on Gas Called.

Oklahoma City, July 16.—Attorney General West issued a call for a conference to be held in Topeka, Kas., July 30, on the subject of conservation of natural gas resources. Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri are expected to respond.

ARBITRATION FOR RAILROAD MEN

Officials of Both Sides Meet to Settle Dispute.

WILL BEAR EXPENSES EQUALLY

Most Important Effort at Peaceful Settlement of Labor Controversy Ever Made in U. S.—30,000 Men Involved.

New York, July 16.—What all the participants regard as the most important effort at peaceful arbitration of a severe labor dispute ever made in the United States was begun here at the Oriental hotel, Manhattan beach. It was the meeting of the arbitration commission to settle the differences between the 30,000 locomotive egineers employed by 52 of the principal railroads east of Chicago and north of Richmond, Va., who voted overwhelmingly to strike when the railroad managers refused to grant a wage increase.

To Abide by Decision.

The commission powers and the authority under which it is acting are unique. The entire expense, including liberal but unnamed compensation to the commissioners, stenographers' fees, hotel bills, etc., is to be divided by the railroads and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. And yet both sides have agreed honorably to abide by the commissions' decision.

Oscar S. Straus, former secretary of commerce and labor, presided. The other members of the commission are Charles R. Van Hise, president of the University of Wisconsin; Frederick Judson, of St. Louis; Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews; Otto M. Eidlitz, a New York contractor; Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and P. H. Morrisey, former president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Stone Talks for Men.

Warren S. Stone, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, occupied the whole afternoon presenting the case to the men. He said that men based their claims chiefly upon two grounds, the responsibility of the engineers while on duty and the skill required.

Mr. Stone answered the numerous questions from members of the commission and submitted reports made by the railroads to the interstate commerce commission and other data in his support of his contention that the increased speed of passenger trains, the heavier types of freight locomotives and the more elaborate signal systems in use combined to add to the strain and responsibility of the engineer.

Mr. Stone will call a number of locomotive engineers as witnesses.

The case for the railroads will be presented by B. A. Worthington, president of the Chicago & Alton; O. F. Butterfield, general counsel, New York Central, and C. H. Brownell of the Erie.

TRYING TO FIX BLAME FOR WRECK

Chicago, July 16.—Coroner Hoffman is trying to fix the blame for the Burlington wreck when thirteen were killed and nearly fifty injured. On returning from the scene of the wreck the coroner said:

"We expect to reach a definite conclusion regarding the cause of the wreck and the responsibility in time for the inquest at LaGrange Thursday."

Hoffman condemned the practice of running two fast trains so close together. He said they should have been at least twenty-five minutes apart.

It was determined definitely that efforts were made to halt the mail train before it crashed into the Pullman sleeper of the Overland limited.

According to P. S. Eustis, passenger traffic manager of the Burlington, the blame for the wreck lies between George Bronson, engineer of No. 8, who died with his hand on the brake lever, and John Woodruff, flagman of train No. 2, who placed the torpedoes.

ATTEMPTED TRAIN WRECK FAILS

Holden, Mo., July 16.—An attempt was made to wreck the Missouri Pacific train, No. 4, just before midnight. Two spikes had been driven between the rails, one on each side of the track, one mile east of here. The place of the attempted wreck was at the top of the hill. The train was going at slow speed and kept the track. The mail train, No. 5, due here twenty minutes later, runs at high speed and had it struck the spikes a wreck probably would have resulted.

Arrest a Kansas Postmaster.

ICE MEN FIGHTING SOCIALISTS

PLAN TO HELP POOR BLOCKED BY INJUNCTION.

Proposition to Sell at 25 Cents Held Up by Dealers Who Want to Get 40 Cents.

Schenectady, N. Y., July 16.—"Cheap ice for the poor," is the plan of the Socialist administration of Schenectady, and the whole city is stirred by the attempt of the organized ice dealers to enjoin Mayor Lunn and his officials from carrying out the plan.

The administration stored ice last winter as part of its promise to help the people. They started to sell ice at 25 cents a hundred weight this summer, while the dealers put the price at 40 cents.

"They got a local dealer to enjoin us from selling our ice to the people," Mayor Lunn said, "and that injunction cannot be argued until July 23. They went at it as you might expect them to. They don't cite any law as being violated by our efforts to help out the poor people in this awful weather by selling them ice at a reasonable rate, but they alleged that we have not the right to do it."

When asked if he feared any further legal action Mayor Lunn said:

"They already have tried to hamper our work by asking to have the injunction modified, so as to prevent us from using the telephone in the city departments and using one of the city offices as an ice bureau. Of course we will have to wait to untie the tangle until the court acts, but in the meantime we shall not be idle by a long way. I am in this fight to the finish."

OKLAHOMA OIL DRILLERS BUSY

New Rigs Going Up All Over Field—Old Territory, Also, Being Covered by Test Wells.

Muskogee, Ok., July 16.—"There will be more drilling for oil in the state of Oklahoma in July than in any month in the history of the business," is the statement of a big oil man. That is because of the high price of oil which is now selling for just double what it brought a few years ago.

Rigs are going up all around Muskogee, in the Tulsa field, in the Osage field, Bald Hill and Cushing fields and practically all over the Cherokee nation. Even in the old fields where wells had been abandoned and where the production had fallen off until it was no longer profitable to pump wells new rigs are going up. Oil companies which have had leases are now contracting with drillers to put down test wells.

Boy Who Got Half Million in Checks Taken in Buffalo—Had Ticket to Kansas City.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 16.—Joseph McCarthy, 17 years old, was arrested at the New York Central station here and confessed that he is the boy who made off last week in New York with a bag containing about $500,000 in checks and $222 in cash, the property of a cigar store company.

McCarthy said he was on his way to Kansas City and had a ticket to Denver. He had $99 hidden in his stocking.

Schools for Whites Only.

Phoenix, Ariz., July 16.—By reversing the decision of the lower courts in the case of S. A. Bayless, a negro, against the Phoenix board of education, the supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the recently enacted state law to segregate negro from white children in the public schools.

SENATORS FAVOR ENGLAND'S CLAIM

Burton and Root Support British in Panama Canal Case.

ALL MUST HAVE EQUAL RIGHTS

To Discriminate in Favor of American Vessels Called Unjustifiable—May Be Subject of Special Message to Congress.

Washington, July 16.—Great Britain's protest that the United States has no right under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty to pass its own coastwise vessels free through the Panama canal, while it collects tolls from British and other foreign ships, found emphatic support in the senate.

Opening the fight over the Panama canal bill sent to the senate by the house, in which the free provision is an important feature, Senator Burton of Ohio and Senator Root of New York outlined the ground upon which the enemies of free American ships will fight their battle.

Important Rights Surrendered.

Both senators declared Great Britain had surrendered important rights at Panama, held under the former Clayton-Bulwer treaty, for the pledge of "equal treatment" to all ships, given by the United States in the existing Hay-Pauncefote treaty. The controversy hinges on the question of whether the United States, in its pledge to treat the ships of "all nations" equally, meant to include vessels owned by its own citizens.

Senator Root, former secretary of state, unreservedly declared that The Hague court would be called upon to settle the issue finally, if the United States passed the bill with the free provision, which he characterized as "unjustifiable discrimination" against other nations. A decision against the United States by The Hague court, he said, would undoubtedly involve this country in the repayment of millions of dollars to the owners of foreign ships, which might have been taken in as tolls at the canal.

The British argumentative statement probably will be submitted by President Taft to congress, perhaps accompanied by a special message.

FAST TRAIN JUMPED INTO DITCH

Gas Explosion Set Fire to Coaches, Making Ruin Complete—None Seriously Injured.

The engine plunged into an embankment on one side of the track while the six cars shot over a 30-foot embankment on the opposite side of the roadbed and landed in a swamp.

The five coaches and the baggage car were destroyed. Physicians who arrived on relief trains found none was injured aside from minor cuts and bruises.

ROW IN NAVY OVER RELIGION

SENATOR WORKS WILL DEFEND COURT-MARTIALED SAILOR.

Christian Scientist Had Refused to Be Vaccinated—To Test Department's Authority in the Matter.

Washington, July 16.—Indignant at the punishment inflicted by a naval court martial on John Joseph Kaspa, of Chicago, gunner's mate, for his refusal to submit to vaccination for typhoid fever, his reason being that he is a Christian Scientist, Senator John D. Works, of California, a member of the cult, has lodged a protest with the navy department and will undertake to test the department's authority over the religious convictions of its enlisted men.

As a preliminary to his action, Senator Works has informed Secretary of the Navy Meyer that he will favor the exclusion of Christian Scientists from the navy or from any other branch of the public service, if they are to be made liable to the treatment accorded Kaspa.

Kaspa had seen ten years continuout service in the navy and his record was without blemish. When the United States steamship Delaware was at Guantonamo early in April, the navy department issued its order requiring all officers and enlisted men to be vaccinated. Kaspa refused to submit to it.

His refusal was accepted as willful disobedience and he was ordered court-martialed. This was done and he was sentenced to two years at hard labor without pay at the disciplinary barracks at Port Royal, S. C. In addition he was ordered reduced to the rank of seaman and to be discharged dishonorably at the end of his term of imprisonment.

A protest was lodged with the judge advocate by Kaspa's attorney, Ralph R. Jacobs, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and the sentence was reduced to one year, but the other punishments were allowed to stand.

Two Widows and Another

By Bryant C. Rogers

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

Moses Davenport owned the sawmill in the village of Dort. He was also half-owner of a grocery store. He also owned the vacant lots opposite the Methodist church. It can thus be seen at a glance that Moses was a man of importance. Added to the facts above given, he was forty years old and a widower, and it had been repeatedly announced that he would never marry again, having promised his wife on her dying bed that he would not do so.

One spring day the village of Dort buzzed with excitement. Nobody had fallen downstairs, and the doctors had not discovered a case of measles. The place had not been turned into a summer resort, and none of the hogs roaming the streets had come down with the cholera. All the excitement had been created by the report that Moses Davenport had quarreled with his sister, who kept house for him, and that she was going away and he had been heard to say:

"You can go and be hanged to you, and you need never come back! In six months I shall have a wife to run the house for me!"

Those were the exact words of Moses, as overheard by neighbors, and as they were repeated from mouth to mouth the excitement was intensified. There were widows in and around Dort, and everybody decided offhand that in case of marriage it would be a widow. There were Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Stringer, Mrs. White, Mrs. Elkins, Mrs. Bacon and others, and who would draw the lucky number? They were each and severally notified of what had happened, and what might happen, and though more or less flustrated each one tried to assume an air of indifference as she replied with beating heart:

"Is that all? Well, Moses Davenport will waste his time if he comes spooning around here. I wouldn't look at him twice."

These words were faithfully reported to the widower, and in one way and another the excitement was maintained for a week. Then an agent for a new liver pad came along, and people rushed to buy, and other things were forgotten. Then Moses Davenport went courting. His first call was on Mrs. Davis. No girl would have called it by that name. He talked about the weather, predicted a thunder storm and said it was his opinion that potatoes would be high in the fall. The widow agreed with him. She smiled and laughed as she agreed. She congratulated him on the way he looked, and when he advised her to set out her tomato plants early she said she would take the advice of a wise man and do so. No talk of admiration, love or matrimony, but a very pleasant call—so pleasant, in fact, that after Moses had departed the widow said to her old maid sister:

"Sarah, that man will ask me within three months to be his wife."

"How can you tell?" was asked.

"A woman's intuition."

"But he didn't say anything in particular."

"No. He just came spooning around. I hadn't seen him for six months, and he wanted to see if I had lost any of my good looks. I haven't, and he'll be back again."

"And if he asks you to marry him?"

"I shall say yes, of course, but not be in too big a hurry to do so. Didn't you notice his looks of admiration?"

The old-maid sister hadn't noticed any such looks, but she had no other home to go to and therefore answered that she had

On leaving the house of Mrs. Davis Moses called at that of Mrs. Elkins. His call was friendly. There was more talk about the weather and thunderstorms, and on rising to depart he said:

"Widow, string beans are going to be scarce and high this summer, and if I were you I'd get them planted a bit early."

That was the nearest to love he got, but upon his departure the widow said to her daughter:

"Well, Hetty, you will soon be having a new pa."

"I can't afford to marry no such man."

"Why, is Mr. Davenport going to ask you to marry him?"

"He certainly is."

"But he talked about string beans."

"Yes, when you can get a widower to talking about string beans something else is bound to follow. It's but a step from that to matrimony."

"But I never heard of that before."

"There's a good many things you never heard of before. Now then, don't you go to telling around that I'm trying to catch Mr. Davenport, for I'm not. The poor man is lonely, and I may take pity on him, but you know I don't care to get married to anyone. Did you watch where he went to when he left here, as I told you to?"

"He went to Mrs. Stringer. Mebbe he was going to talk string beans to her!"

Miss Hetty received a box on the ear for her impudence, and for the next three days the mother flattered herself that her market was made. Then the widow Davis called, and after paying several compliments she remarked:

"Did you know it was all over the village that I was to marry Mr. Davenport?"

"No, I hadn't heard a word about it. He called here first the other day, but of course when he began to talk love I packed him off about his business. I can't afford to marry no such man."

"Nor I either. They say he shortened his wife's life by years with his fault-finding."

"The poor thing! He was just on the point of asking for my hand when I remembered what I had heard and changed the subject and shut him off. Neither one of us can afford to sacrifice ourselves for a man of his stamp."

"The same at my house. Well, I must be going."

The two widows were hardly a hundred feet apart when each one said to herself:

"The old cat! Does she think she has fooled me the least little bit? Mr. Davenport shall learn just what she thinks of him."

Next day the widower received two anonymous letters conveying the information, and a great deal more. He was advised in a paternal way not to trust his future to a woman who couldn't properly shorten a pie crust to save her neck; who made a bed with the foot the highest; who was certain to have lock-jaw some day from running a rusty nail in her foot because she would go around in her bare feet; who steeped over old coffee grounds; who had bad teeth. The above wasn't all. No names were mentioned, but he had no trouble in guessing who the writers were.

Mr. Davenport's response was immediate. On the very next day he called on the widow Davis to say:

"Widow, it occurred to me that you might be lonely."

"Dear me, but I can't tell you how lonely!" was sighed in reply.

"But matrimony is a dangerous thing."

"I've heard say it was, but—"

"The other day I called to advise you to set out your tomato plants early. I now advise you to do the same about your cabbages, and to forget matrimony."

Moses then made his way to the house of Mrs. Elkins and said:

"Widow, when I was here the other day, I advised you to plant string beans and plenty of them. If you are asked to marry refuse the offer stick to string beans. They never disappoint you."

"But, Mr. Davenport—"

"Sentiment — love — matrimony — string-beans!"

And to the widow Stringer he said:

"I called here the other day to ask if you had a catnip bed in your yard. I have now called to ask you to be my wife."

"But I thought—thought—!"

"Suppose we set the day for a month ahead?"

And after a blush and a wriggle and a stammer the day was set.

HIS TROUBLE NOT OF HEART

Waynesville, N. C.—Mr. F. R. Huffman, of this city, says: "I suffered dreadfully with what I thought was heart trouble, and tried various medicines in vain.

After other remedies had failed, Thedford's Black-Draught restored me to health. I would not feel safe without Black-Draught in the house. I consider it worth its weight in gold.

It cured my indigestion, and by this means I was restored to health. I can not express my gratitude for its benefits."

Thedford's Black-Draught will thoroughly cleanse and set in order your digestive system.

It has done this for others, during the past 70 years, and is today the most popular vegetable liver remedy on the market. Try it.

DAILY DEMOCRAT-FORUM

(Successor to the Maryville Republican)

VOLUME 3. MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, TUESDAY, JULY 16, 1912. NO. 37.

SAW A BULL FIGHT

HYSTERICAL AND FAINTING WOMEN WITNESS SPANISH PASTIME.

Readers of The Democrat-Forum are expressing appreciation of the European letters of Miss Mae Corwin of this city. The communication following is a continuation of the letter in Monday's paper, under date of June 27, from Madrid:

I do not know whether I spoke of the peculiar European meals. Coffee and bread and butter in the morning. Breakfast at noon, consisting of several courses, always beginning with an egg omelet and having several meats with very few vegetables. The latter is served as a separate course, with change of plates, unless simply a garnish. They have some delicious dishes, but cook entirely in olive oil, have neither lard or butter, so that rather spoiled our enjoyment of them at first. We are now getting used to it. Spain is a butterless land, you know. In large cities they give us a kind of unsalted and usually very powerful butter for early coffee, and at this half American hotel for breakfast also. But that is not Spanish custom.

* * *

We saw the great national game at Seville, after attending mass in the morning at the wonderful cathedral. I shall not attempt to describe cathedrals, much less churches. You will understand when I say we have seen four cathedrals in the six cities we have visited and gone to as many as four or five churches. Last Sunday morning we attended 10 o'clock mass at the Toledo cathedral, then looked in on mass at three others. Here in Madrid there are only art galleries and the palace, no churches.

* * *

I think I started to tell about the great fight or national game of Spain. Well, we saw all the populace going in one direction, evidently on pleasure bent, so joined the throng, twenty-four strong, leaving only one fearful one behind. We purchased little fans for a fourth of a penny from boys who clung to your skirts until you did, then the cushions of shavings, paper covered, and crowded through the entrance and climbed the high stone steps to seat ourselves on the feet of the unfortunates above, just like we do at our base ball games. By 5 o'clock, when the procession entered the arena, that whole circular amphitheater was jammed full of people. Some had been seated in the hot sun for an hour. The procession came to a stand beside us to salute the city officials, who were up near where we were. I have several pictures. Stood up and took them all during the first round of the fight.

The colors and rich trappings of matadors and toreadors were simply splendid. No wonder this nation likes its amusements. The dancers wear really beautiful clothes. Skirts of a gorgeous color worked in gold thread in lovely designs, and shawls of another color, beautifully embroidered, with silk fringe a half yard long.

To continue with the fight: The first bull was rather small and not very fierce. When he came out of the entrance the horses were stationed around the sides of the arena at certain intervals. He made for one quite rapidly and gored it, throwing the rider, who scrambled over the fence like a monkey.

At sight of the horse Cousin Rachel went into a violent fit of hysterical weeping. She caused much more commotion among the Spaniards than the fight. They brought water, and by signs told her to cover her face, and seemed much concerned. Cousin George began scolding her and then yelled for aqua (water), and when I begged him to be still, discovered the girl on the other side of him was almost fainting.

That first round really was the worst, for they made the horses get up again when they had been disemboweled. In the two following fights the

Are Very Strict in Camp Near Nevada About Cleanliness of Members.

Camp Rumbold, Nevada, Mo., Sunday, July 14.—Company F is now located in one of the most sanitary camps of instruction in the United States. Everything is as clean as could be possible for it to be, and they are very particular about the grub, not allowing it to be exposed to the flies. Nothing is served while cold but must be warmed first.

They are also very strictly enforcing individual sanitation. Each man must take a bath once a day, best of care taken of the teeth, finger nails manicured and no one is allowed to drink from any cup other than his own or use any dishes but his own individual mess kit. All the bedding is well aired each day and the company street is policed twice each day, every match, stick and piece of paper is picked up and burned.

We Company F boys are certainly living up to the rules, and many a Maryville mother who has to hunt up her son's collar buttons and find his ties for him each time he goes calling on his lady friend would be greatly surprised to see what he really can do for himself when Uncle Sam gets after him. While writing this letter we can hear our Maryville friends Albert Butherus and Lawrence Shanks tuning up with the Fourth Regiment band, while Ned Atherton is sweating over his snare drum. The band sure had tough luck this trip, as all the company tents were pitched, but the band had to pitch their own tents. Slim Butherus sure proved himself a handy man with the 16-pound sledge hammer. The band boys say he drove 196 tent pins in 200 minutes, which we claim is going some for a light weight like Slim.

The company boys are resting up today, since they have no drills on Sunday. However, Bugler Charley Wilson and a few others hit the timber to practice up for a strenuous week of windjamming.

INVITES LOCAL CARS TO JOIN.

The state board of agriculture, with Curtis Hill, state highway engineer, will be in Maryville Wednesday and will be guests of the Maryville Commercial club at dinner at the Linville hotel. The party is scheduled to arrive at 11:40 o'clock a. m., and will leave Maryville at 1 o'clock and go to Pickering, Hopkins, Clearmont, Burlington Junction and Tarkio.

Local cars are invited to join the tour, which has for its object to boost and agitate good roads, and also to better acquaint the state board with road conditions here. Drivers of local cars are requested to always drop in at the rear of the line of cars.

RETURNED FROM WASHINGTON.

W. C. VanCleve Home From Capital City, Where He Has Been for Several Months.

W. C. VanCleve, one of the editors of The Democrat-Forum, returned to Maryville Sunday night from Washington, D. C., where he has been one of the bill clerks during the present session of congress. Congress will probably adjourn about August 1, said Mr. VanCleve. Mr. VanCleve has been away for the past eight months. Mrs. VanCleve and their sons, Kenneth and William, stopped on their way to Maryville at LaGrange, Mo., and next week will visit Mr. VanCleve's parents in Moberly, then home.

Returned From Baltimore Convention.

Harry M. Irwin returned Monday morning from his eastern trip. He was an alternate from this congressional district to the Democratic national convention at Baltimore, and after the convention he visited in Washington, D. C., New York City and at Chicago.

Here From Idaho.

Visiting in Clyde.

N. Sturm and his little granddaughter went to Clyde Tuesday, and while Mr. Sturm attended to business matters, Mayme visited her cousins, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Sturm.

Dale Whitehurst was in Arkoe Monday evening on business.

Judge B. F. Gilmore of Gaynor was in the city Monday.

BOOSTING BARNARD

TWO HOT POLITICAL DAYS

Democrats and Both Brands of Republicans Will Have Opportunity to Present Political Views.

A party of seventy-five people from Barnard arrived in Maryville Monday noon on an advertising tour for the Barnard annual picnic, which will be held August 1, 2 and 3.

The tourists will cover 100 miles on their trip, which includes the towns of Graham, Maitland, Skidmore, Quitman, Wilcox, Maryville, Parnell, Ravenwood, Stanberry, King City, Whitesville, Rea, Rosendale and Bolckow.

Attorney B. Raleigh Martin of St. Joseph is the speaker, who is presenting the program for each day and otherwise boosting for the Barnard picnic.

The first day will be State Normal day, under the direction of President H. K. Taylor of that institution.

The next two days will be given over to political speakers, who will discuss the political issues of the day from the viewpoint of the Democrat, the Republican and the Progressive.

All the cars used on this tour are the Reo, and were purchased of the Campbell-Pollard Automobile company of Barnard. The owners of the cars are in the party and are Dwight Davis, T. L. Goff, Dr. M. M. Pollard, Walter Campbell, Sam Conlin, Dr. J. A. Larrabee, John Fields, Warren Campbell, Campbell & Pollard, Emil Culver, Floyd Westfall, all of Barnard; Lewis Sargent, Jr., of Bolckow, and John Howitt and Dave Gebhart of Whitesville.

After speaking and music on the court house square, the Barnardites drove to the State Normal and were guests of President Taylor a short time.

BEDISON MAN HURT.

Hay Fork Dropped Thirty Feet and Struck John Kidd.

Dr. Will Wallis was called to Bedison Tuesday forenoon to attend John Kidd, a well known farmer, who had been painfully hurt by a hay fork that dropped a distance of thirty feet upon him and struck him broadside on the shoulder blade. A gash was cut that required a stitch or two to close up. The injury is not serious, but Mr. Kidd certainly had a narrow escape.

Back From Chicago.

Dr. G. A. Nash of this city and Dr. F. M. Ryan of Quitman returned Saturday night from their week's trip to Chicago, where they spent the entire week at Cook county hospital. Dr. Nash was called to Falls City, Neb., Sunday to consult with Dr. I. N. Houston, a brother of Mrs. Nash, in regard to the condition of Dr. Houston's daughter, Miss Rill Houston, who is seriously ill.

Returned From Wisconsin.

Edgar Hull and his sister, Miss Mura, returned Sunday morning from a two weeks' visit with relatives in Milwaukee and other cities in Wisconsin. Miss Hull went to Bolckow with the Baptist delegation that went to that place Sunday morning for the laymen's meeting that closed Sunday night.

Visiting in Iowa.

Mrs. G. W. Swinford and her son, W. H. Swinford, went to Tingley, Ia., Saturday for a few days' visit with the families of J. H. Steinkamp and E. Breckenridge, and at Blockton with W. M. Wright and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Armstrong of East Second street left Tuesday morning for a visit of a few weeks. Mrs. Armstrong will visit the family of her son, Ed Muntz, in St. Joseph, while Mr. Armstrong goes to Madrid, Neb., to visit his sister, Mrs. B. C. Vroman, and two nieces, Mrs. Peck and Mrs. Ritter.

WAS NOT HIS WIFE

THE CHARGE DWINDLES

Prospects for Punishment of Man in County Jail Grow Less as His Unsavory Past Comes to Light.

After Prosecuting Attorney Wright had talked to Mrs. Alfred Martz at St. Francis hospital Tuesday morning, Mr. Wright said that a charge of adultery, in addition to the wife abandonment charge, would be issued against Martz. Mrs. Martz was rather undecided whether to prosecute Martz or not, saying to Mr. Wright that she would rather wait until she could see him.

Mrs. Martz also admitted that she was never married to Martz. It took Mr. Wright some time to get this admission, as at first Mrs. Martz denied everything. But she finally told her story and said that Martz intended to marry her as soon as he secured a divorce from his former wife.

That Martz has another wife at Ottumwa, Ia., seems to be certain, or is at least admitted to be a fact by Mrs. Martz. Martz always said that he would get a divorce from his wife at Ottumwa, but he never did. He has been separated from her for a number of years.

In case Mrs. Martz would not prosecute Martz, Prosecuting Attorney Wright would have a hard time to go ahead with the matter. Mrs. Martz told Mr. Wright that Mr. Martz had been very good to her and the children, attending to their wants.

Mrs. Martz was formerly a resident near Villisca, Ia. It was at that place that she first met Martz, who then claimed that he was a single man. This was over four years ago. They were on their way to Villisca when Martz secured the job as painter in this city under B. P. Lemon, to visit relatives of Mrs. Martz.

PROF. HOOPER MARRIED.

Was Wedded at Chillicothe on May 23 to Miss Letha Iva Reynolds of Breckenridge, Mo.

County Superintendent Oakerson received Tuesday morning an announcement stating that Miss Letha Iva Reynolds, a daughter of Mrs. Radie Reynolds of Breckenridge, Mo., and Prof. David D. Hooper of the Barnard schools were married at Chillicothe, May 23, by Rev. John H. Hubbard. They will be at home after September 1 at Barnard, where Prof. Hooper is principal of the schools.

Mrs. William Reifenrath and children and her sister, Miss Tillie Quast, who have been guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Blatter for several weeks, left Tuesday for their new home in Windthorst, province of Saskatchewan, Canada, where Mr. Reifenrath has land. Miss Gertrude Quast, who is also visiting here, accompanied them as far as Conception, then went to the St. Benedictine convent at Clyde to visit the Sisters.

Advertising the Chautauqua.

Lona Perrin made a trip to Maitland, Graham and Skidmore Tuesday afternoon, piloted by Harold Staples in his car, distributed advertising matter for the Maryville Chautauqua. They are accompanied by Mrs. P. O. Landon and sons.

Miss Albert Still at Hospital.

Miss Ada Albert is not yet able to leave the hospital, where she was taken nine days ago. She is getting along nicely, however, the malaria from which she was suffering is broken and she will be able to go home before many days.

Harold Ford in Town.

Harold Ford of Houston, Texas., arrived in Maryville Monday night on a vacation visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ford of South Main street. Mr. Ford represents the H. Birge Wall Paper company of Buffalo, N. Y.

Misses Juanita and Lefa Nixon and Helen Carter of Jamesport, who have been visiting the Misses Nixon's sister, Mrs. Ed Rickard of Pickering, returned home Monday.

TOMORROW IS BARGAIN DAY.

Wednesday is going to be a big day in Maryville for out-of-town visitors. The merchants have offered some unusual bargains, and in addition to this a fine entertainment has been provided for the visitors. If you don't come to Maryville tomorrow you will miss something.

TWO MONTHS' TRIP.

On August 21 Rev. and Mrs. Joel B. Hayden will sail from New York on the Austro-American liner Martha Washington, in company with Mr. Hayden's co-worker and former classmate, Mr. Kenneth D. Miller.

The trip will be an extensive one. The first stop will be the Azores. From there they go to Algiers, Naples, Patras, Greece, Trieste and Venice. At Venice they will take an express boat and make the trip south along the Dalmatian coast. This trip is the most beautiful water and scenic trip in the world.

Next they will cross the Balkan states, traveling by boat, rail, autobus and ox cart.

Following this they will visit Agran, Budapesth, and go down the Danube to Vienna. Cracow, in Austrian-Poland, will be their next stop, from where they will go to Warsaw, in Russian-Poland, and finally to Prague, Bohemia, reaching the latter some time in October.

Rev. Hayden will begin his regular work in Prague the first of November, but will go from there to Warsaw on the first of January.

Rev. and Mrs. Hayden expect to spend Christmas in Dresden.

Rev. Hayden filled the pulpit of the First Methodist church Sunday morning. The topic of his sermon was "The Religion of Jesus." In it he took the stand that the church must teach the religion of Jesus and not about Jesus. That is, the church must teach of Jesus by doing for the people as He would have done.

Rev. Hayden next emphasized the fact that the church must reach the masses of the people, and before then must stand for the absolute fulfillment of the law, both moral and statutory.

He then said that the church must follow the example of Christ in the sermon on the mount. It must act in the first person, must speak with authority, and must find out about its subject before it speaks.

Finally, Rev. Hayden demanded that the church of today be sincere. It must meet intellectual, scientific and social progress in a fair manner, and deal with them accordingly.

CUBS WON FROM ATHLETICS.

Standing of the Teams.

	Won.	Lost.	Pr.ct
Giants	6	4	.600
Cubs	6	5	.545
Athletics	6	5	.545
Pirates	3	7	.300

Too much Ham spelled defeat for the Cubs Monday afternoon, when the Athletics nosed out the Cubs in an airtight pitchers' battle by a count of 1 to 0. The lanky Athletic twirled a great game for the winners, allowing but two safe swats. Not a Cub reached third base. But he was not a bit better than his opponent on the mound, one "Shylock" Wilson. The Jew never would have been counted on but for an error, coupled with the only hit that he allowed in the last inning. In this round Ham got to first on Simpson's error and scored when Cooper hit safely to right.

The next game of the tournament will be Wednesday between the Giants and Pirates.

Visiting at Blockton.

Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Wright and their visiting daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Edwin Conklin, of Douglas, Kan., and Miss Gertrude Wright and Master Simeon are visiting Mr. Wright's brother, W. M. Wright, and family at Blockton, Ia.

Guest From Kansas City.

Mrs. John W. Tompson of Kansas City arrived Saturday night on a visit to her sister, Mrs. B. E. Condon, and family, and is also the guest of her niece, Mrs. Frank L. Garrett.

Here From Portland.

Mrs. Earl E. Crabb of Portland, Ore., who is on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Alexander, went to Darlington Monday to visit Mr. Crabb's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Crabb.

DEATH OF A CHILD.

The 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Seals, living on South Dewey street, died Tuesday afternoon at a little past 1 o'clock, after a five days' illness, on the nature of which the physicians disagree.

The child had been ill ever since last Thursday noon, after eating a piece of bologna at dinner. A physician was called and it was at first thought she was poisoned. On Sunday her condition was very bad, and Drs. F. M. and Viles Martin and Dr. J. H. Todd pronounced it spinal meningitis.

City Physician A. T. Fisher was called and he gave it as his opinion that the case was that of auto-intoxication, caused by the bologna.

The family is in great need of help. The father is in poor health and the mother unable to do more than she is now doing for her family. There are two other small children.

bulls were large and fierce and killed the horses at once. We left in small groups at the end of each round until Cousin Polly and about five girls beside me remained with Mr. Watson at the end of the third. Cousin George returned from taking Rachael home and stayed for the last three. He said the last two were too wary for the toreador, and when not stabbed were returned to the stable. Raising the animals for these fights is a great vocation in this part of the country, and all of the cattle are huge. The rider who fails to kill his bull is held in disgrace for life.

We are dealing in palaces mostly now. Saw a beautiful royal hunting park and chateau at Aranjuez, called the Versailles of Spain. Nearby the huge palace and gardens repose, but the present king goes to the northwest corner of Spain, because the English queen prefers that, and the glory of this fine place has departed. He comes to the little chateau about once a year for rest. It is lovely. The walls covered with hand-embroidered silk paper and all the furniture to match, low-backed chairs beautifully carved, and the ceilings painted by some of the finest of Spanish artists. A tiny music room contains a music box, and the billiard room is almost filled by the immense table. There were dozens of these beautiful small rooms, each containing several elaborate clocks on marble topped tables (wedding presents, we guessed). One would go mad if the things ever all run at once.

Am trying to write this on the train as we go out of the Escorial, and these trains have any scenic railway in the world beaten for rough riding. So can't ever tell just what this pen is going to do.

* * *

Wednesday afternoon we went through Sovolla's house. He happened to be at home and seemed delighted. He served us with the first real lemonade we have had. The house is new and very large, built with American money, they claim. He has a small garden in front with fountain and paved walks, at the side a larger one with gravel walks. Inside is the usual patio, of which he is very proud. Many of the great pictures we saw in Chicago looked down from the studio walls like old friends. His dining room (not finished) he is decorating with a border of fruits, Spanish jugs and the pictures of his wife and three children. The oldest daughter is quite an artist. We saw the younger and senora, both small and very dark. He kissed Mr. Watson on cheek and forehead in greeting and adieux, according to their custom, then shook hands and said good-bye to the rest.

* * *

Our time has been quite full these days in Madrid, and the events are hard to describe. Yesterday morning Cousins George and Polly and I took a ride while the class were doing more art galleries. We drove to the royal palace first and were just in time to see the queen with the little light prince and her escort come out to ride. She had a mounted officer on each side of her open carriage and two carriages with officials following. The military costumes of these military people are striking and gorgeous, and they take themselves very seriously. The queen looked young and pretty and very fair-haired. She wore a light straw hat with lace leaves standing up in the back and a quite plain white dress. The little prince looked like any other small boy. Mr. Watson happened there a little later, and, seeing the crowd gather, looking about we saw the king start out driving in his auto.

After that we saw what the Frenchman called the treasury, really the administration building. We saw the senate chamber, where the president, with two secretaries on each hand, sits with a glass protector behind his back. The throne is behind him at the end, but he is removed when the royal couple are there.

They showed us a library, of which all the fixtures were finely wrought iron, where was the original map used by Columbus. There are several statues and pictures of him throughout the building.

Well, I must cease this writing as we approach our destination. We return to Madrid, then make Targossa, a monastery to which we make a twelve-mile drive into the mountains for a couple of days, then another two at Monserratt, which is a high mountain with a very interesting old monastery, where we are furnished cells or apartments for groups of six, with charcoal stoves to prepare our own meals. We do not see our suit cases again for a week. I bought a woven lunch basket of considerable size for a handbag, as the suit case was too large. This holds a lot and is light. Am still feeling fine and seeing everything, but rest more than the others do.

Over 2200 a Day

The circulation of the Daily Democrat-Forum for no publication day in July has been less than 2200 copies. Except for the first week in July it has been over that number.

A number of times in the past on single days, when some unusual reason existed, more than 2200 papers were circulated, but we are now issuing every day more than that number.

There has only been one month in the past year that the circulation of the paper did not show a handsome increase over that of the preceding month and the bona fide every day circulation of the Democrat-Forum is greater right now than it ever was before.

In advertising there are two things to be considered: Quantity and Quality. The Democrat-Forum presents its claim to quantity with the assertion that it has the largest circulation of any paper in Nodaway or any of the surrounding counties—it openly states its circulation figures believing the advertiser has the same right to know what he is buying when he purchases advertising as when he buys food or clothing. As to the quality of our circulation there can be no question. The paper is read—and read with interest—by the wideawake, the progressive and intelligent part of the population of the county. No unusual means have been taken to stimulate the growth of the paper, no prizes, no contests, no cut prices. It has been a healthy, steady growth, an appreciation of a real, live, fair, newsy paper by the people.

It is from the use of such mediums that the best results in advertising are obtained. We have the medium, reaching the very people you want to talk to. Will you overlook your opportunity.

COTTON WEAVERS REFUSE TO WORK

TWENTY MILLS ARE AFFECTED

Loom Fixers Endorse Strike and May Also Go Out—Trouble Followed Posting of Notices Announcing New Plan of Grading.

New Bedford, Mass., July 16.—Fourteen thousand union weavers, employed in twelve of the great cotton manufactories here, went on strike. Twenty mills are affected.

The Industrial Workers of the World and the United Textile Workers are cambined for the struggle.

The loom fixers' union voted to indorse the strike and to strike independently in the Dartmouth mills on grievances of their own. Francis P. Duffy is secretary of the weavers' union and will be in charge of the strike.

Object to Grade Plan.

The trouble follows the posting of grading notices in many plants. The grading system, so-called, is a plan under which weavers received only 60 per cent as much for goods ranked as second class as they do for goods ranked first class.

The weavers contend that, in many cases, how the goods are classified depends on the quality of the cotton or the machines they use, rather than on their own work.

The weavers average a weekly wage of about $9. Sometimes as much as $2 has been cut from their wage by the grading system. The reductions were divided, every six months, among the weavers working during that period.

Employers Refuse to Change.

This plan was not satisfactory to them and a demand was made for a change. The Manufacturers' association, of which William O. Devoll is secretary, voted to refuse the demand and the strike vote followed.

The New Bedford authorities have planned rigorous measures to prevent disorder. Chief Henry W. Mason has issued orders that policemen will be allowed no days off or vacations while the trouble lasts, and extra guards were on hand all day to watch the mills.

The strikers had picket lines out; crowds gathered at each mill and efforts were made to induce other operatives to join the strike.

FRISCO ROAD MAY BE OUSTED

Failure to Pay Charter Fees in Kansas on New Stock Sold Threatens Trouble.

Topeka, July 16.—John S. Dawson, attorney general, went to Wichita for a conference with R. R. Vermillion, general attorney for the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, relative to a probable ouster suit against the railroad for failure to pay its charter fees. The Frisco is an old railroad in Kansas, and had authority to transact business in the state under an old law.

New laws were enacted, but the company failed to pay its charter fees, and Fred S. Jackson, then attorney general, brought an ouster suit to collect the fees on $100,000,000 of new capital stock the company had authorized. The supreme court held that while the stock had been authorized it had not been sold and dismissed the suit.

The state charter board learned that the Frisco had sold this new stock and asked the attorney general to begin a new ouster suit to collect the fees due the state on this new money that goes into the property.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 16.—Michigan Central train No. 3, New York to Chicago, left the rails near Kalamazoo. Despite its speed of sixty miles an hour, no one was killed and but one passenger was injured dangerously. The latter is Mrs. C. Malody, 39 years old, Chicago, who, it is believed, is internally injured.

Two Killed in a Buggy.

St. Louis, July 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson of Valley Park, Mo., were killed when a Missouri Pacific passenger train struck the buggy in which they were riding. The accident was witnessed by a score of persons, who vainly shouted warnings as the train approached.

Conference on Gas Called.

Oklahoma City, July 16.—Attorney General West issued a call for a conference to be held in Topeka, Kas., July 30, on the subject of conservation of natural gas resources. Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri are expected to respond.

ARBITRATION FOR RAILROAD MEN

Officials of Both Sides Meet to Settle Dispute.

WILL BEAR EXPENSES EQUALLY

New York, July 16.—What all the participants regard as the most important effort at peaceful arbitration of a severe labor dispute ever made in the United States was begun here at the Oriental hotel, Manhattan beach. It was the meeting of the arbitration commission to settle the differences between the 30,000 locomotive egineers employed by 52 of the principal railroads east of Chicago and north of Richmond, Va., who voted overwhelmingly to strike when the railroad managers refused to grant a wage increase.

To Abide by Decision.

The commission powers and the authority under which it is acting are unique. The entire expense, including liberal but unnamed compensation to the commissioners, stenographers' fees, hotel bills, etc., is to be divided by the railroads and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. And yet both sides have agreed honorably to abide by the commissions' decision.

Oscar S. Straus, former secretary of commerce and labor, presided. The other members of the commission are Charles R. Van Hise, president of the University of Wisconsin; Frederick Judson, of St. Louis; Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews; Otto M. Eidlitz, a New York contractor; Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and P. H. Morrisey, former president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Stone Talks for Men.

Warren S. Stone, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, occupied the whole afternoon presenting the case to the men. He said that men based their claims chiefly upon two grounds, the responsibility of the engineers while on duty and the skill required.

Mr. Stone answered the numerous questions from members of the commission and submitted reports made by the railroads to the interstate commerce commission and other data in his support of his contention that the increased speed of passenger trains, the heavier types of freight locomotives and the more elaborate signal systems in use combined to add to the strain and responsibility of the engineer.

Mr. Stone will call a number of locomotive engineers as witnesses.

The case for the railroads will be presented by B. A. Worthington, president of the Chicago & Alton; O. F. Butterfield, general counsel, New York Central, and C. H. Brownell of the Erie.

TRYING TO FIX BLAME FOR WRECK

Chicago, July 16.—Coroner Hoffman is trying to fix the blame for the Burlington wreck when thirteen were killed and nearly fifty injured. On returning from the scene of the wreck the coroner said:

"We expect to reach a definite conclusion regarding the cause of the wreck and the responsibility in time for the inquest at LaGrange Thursday."

Hoffman condemned the practice of running two fast trains so close together. He said they should have been at least twenty-five minutes apart.

It was determined definitely that efforts were made to halt the mail train before it crashed into the Pullman sleeper of the Overland limited.

According to P. S. Eustis, passenger traffic manager of the Burlington, the blame for the wreck lies between George Bronson, engineer of No. 8, who died with his hand on the brake lever, and John Woodruff, flagman of train No. 2, who placed the torpedoes.

ATTEMPTED TRAIN WRECK FAILS

Holden, Mo., July 16.—An attempt was made to wreck the Missouri Pacific train, No. 4, just before midnight. Two spikes had been driven between the rails, one on each side of the track, one mile east of here. The place of the attempted wreck was at the top of the hill. The train was going at slow speed and kept the track. The mail train, No. 5, due here twenty minutes later, runs at high speed and had it struck the spikes a wreck probably would have resulted.

Arrest a Kansas Postmaster.

ICE MEN FIGHTING SOCIALISTS

PLAN TO HELP POOR BLOCKED BY INJUNCTION.

Proposition to Sell at 25 Cents Held Up by Dealers Who Want to Get 40 Cents.

Schenectady, N. Y., July 16.—"Cheap ice for the poor," is the plan of the Socialist administration of Schenectady, and the whole city is stirred by the attempt of the organized ice dealers to enjoin Mayor Lunn and his officials from carrying out the plan.

The administration stored ice last winter as part of its promise to help the people. They started to sell ice at 25 cents a hundred weight this summer, while the dealers put the price at 40 cents.

"They got a local dealer to enjoin us from selling our ice to the people," Mayor Lunn said, "and that injunction cannot be argued until July 23. They went at it as you might expect them to. They don't cite any law as being violated by our efforts to help out the poor people in this awful weather by selling them ice at a reasonable rate, but they alleged that we have not the right to do it."

When asked if he feared any further legal action Mayor Lunn said:

"They already have tried to hamper our work by asking to have the injunction modified, so as to prevent us from using the telephone in the city departments and using one of the city offices as an ice bureau. Of course we will have to wait to untie the tangle until the court acts, but in the meantime we shall not be idle by a long way. I am in this fight to the finish."

OKLAHOMA OIL DRILLERS BUSY

Muskogee, Ok., July 16.—"There will be more drilling for oil in the state of Oklahoma in July than in any month in the history of the business," is the statement of a big oil man. That is because of the high price of oil which is now selling for just double what it brought a few years ago.

Rigs are going up all around Muskogee, in the Tulsa field, in the Osage field, Bald Hill and Cushing fields and practically all over the Cherokee nation. Even in the old fields where wells had been abandoned and where the production had fallen off until it was no longer profitable to pump wells new rigs are going up. Oil companies which have had leases are now contracting with drillers to put down test wells.

ROBBED EMPLOYER TO SEE WEST

Buffalo, N. Y., July 16.—Joseph McCarthy, 17 years old, was arrested at the New York Central station here and confessed that he is the boy who made off last week in New York with a bag containing about $500,000 in checks and $222 in cash, the property of a cigar store company.

McCarthy said he was on his way to Kansas City and had a ticket to Denver. He had $99 hidden in his stocking.

Schools for Whites Only.

Phoenix, Ariz., July 16.—By reversing the decision of the lower courts in the case of S. A. Bayless, a negro, against the Phoenix board of education, the supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the recently enacted state law to segregate negro from white children in the public schools.

SENATORS FAVOR ENGLAND'S CLAIM

ALL MUST HAVE EQUAL RIGHTS

To Discriminate in Favor of American Vessels Called Unjustifiable—May Be Subject of Special Message to Congress.

Washington, July 16.—Great Britain's protest that the United States has no right under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty to pass its own coastwise vessels free through the Panama canal, while it collects tolls from British and other foreign ships, found emphatic support in the senate.

Opening the fight over the Panama canal bill sent to the senate by the house, in which the free provision is an important feature, Senator Burton of Ohio and Senator Root of New York outlined the ground upon which the enemies of free American ships will fight their battle.

Important Rights Surrendered.

Both senators declared Great Britain had surrendered important rights at Panama, held under the former Clayton-Bulwer treaty, for the pledge of "equal treatment" to all ships, given by the United States in the existing Hay-Pauncefote treaty. The controversy hinges on the question of whether the United States, in its pledge to treat the ships of "all nations" equally, meant to include vessels owned by its own citizens.

Senator Root, former secretary of state, unreservedly declared that The Hague court would be called upon to settle the issue finally, if the United States passed the bill with the free provision, which he characterized as "unjustifiable discrimination" against other nations. A decision against the United States by The Hague court, he said, would undoubtedly involve this country in the repayment of millions of dollars to the owners of foreign ships, which might have been taken in as tolls at the canal.

The British argumentative statement probably will be submitted by President Taft to congress, perhaps accompanied by a special message.

FAST TRAIN JUMPED INTO DITCH

The engine plunged into an embankment on one side of the track while the six cars shot over a 30-foot embankment on the opposite side of the roadbed and landed in a swamp.

The five coaches and the baggage car were destroyed. Physicians who arrived on relief trains found none was injured aside from minor cuts and bruises.

ROW IN NAVY OVER RELIGION

SENATOR WORKS WILL DEFEND COURT-MARTIALED SAILOR.

Washington, July 16.—Indignant at the punishment inflicted by a naval court martial on John Joseph Kaspa, of Chicago, gunner's mate, for his refusal to submit to vaccination for typhoid fever, his reason being that he is a Christian Scientist, Senator John D. Works, of California, a member of the cult, has lodged a protest with the navy department and will undertake to test the department's authority over the religious convictions of its enlisted men.

As a preliminary to his action, Senator Works has informed Secretary of the Navy Meyer that he will favor the exclusion of Christian Scientists from the navy or from any other branch of the public service, if they are to be made liable to the treatment accorded Kaspa.

Kaspa had seen ten years continuout service in the navy and his record was without blemish. When the United States steamship Delaware was at Guantonamo early in April, the navy department issued its order requiring all officers and enlisted men to be vaccinated. Kaspa refused to submit to it.

His refusal was accepted as willful disobedience and he was ordered court-martialed. This was done and he was sentenced to two years at hard labor without pay at the disciplinary barracks at Port Royal, S. C. In addition he was ordered reduced to the rank of seaman and to be discharged dishonorably at the end of his term of imprisonment.

A protest was lodged with the judge advocate by Kaspa's attorney, Ralph R. Jacobs, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and the sentence was reduced to one year, but the other punishments were allowed to stand.

National Stock Yards, Ill., July 15.—Cattle receipts, 4,500. Strictly good steers, kinds over $8.75, sold fully steady with a top of $9.25. The lower priced varieties were dull and fully 10c to 15c lower. Good cornfed butcher cattle met with active demand and were 10c to 15c higher. Medium grades were steady.

Hog receipts, 7,500. At the outset butchers and shippers imparted some action to the trade and sales were comparatively strong. A top of $7.65 was scored. As soon as this demand had been satisfied trade was left in packer hands and was an unsatisfactory market on which to do business.

Sheep receipts, 4,000. The lamb trade declined 25c. Choice lambs brought $7.10, this being a sale that the National made. Bulk of the fair to good lambs, $6.75 to $7.00; medium kinds, $5.75 to $6.50; culls, $4.00 to $5.50. The hot weather is having a bad effect upon the lambs and market. Sheep steady, most sales at $4.25; bucks, $3.00.

Two Widows and Another

By Bryant C. Rogers

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

Moses Davenport owned the sawmill in the village of Dort. He was also half-owner of a grocery store. He also owned the vacant lots opposite the Methodist church. It can thus be seen at a glance that Moses was a man of importance. Added to the facts above given, he was forty years old and a widower, and it had been repeatedly announced that he would never marry again, having promised his wife on her dying bed that he would not do so.

One spring day the village of Dort buzzed with excitement. Nobody had fallen downstairs, and the doctors had not discovered a case of measles. The place had not been turned into a summer resort, and none of the hogs roaming the streets had come down with the cholera. All the excitement had been created by the report that Moses Davenport had quarreled with his sister, who kept house for him, and that she was going away and he had been heard to say:

"You can go and be hanged to you, and you need never come back! In six months I shall have a wife to run the house for me!"

Those were the exact words of Moses, as overheard by neighbors, and as they were repeated from mouth to mouth the excitement was intensified. There were widows in and around Dort, and everybody decided offhand that in case of marriage it would be a widow. There were Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Stringer, Mrs. White, Mrs. Elkins, Mrs. Bacon and others, and who would draw the lucky number? They were each and severally notified of what had happened, and what might happen, and though more or less flustrated each one tried to assume an air of indifference as she replied with beating heart:

"Is that all? Well, Moses Davenport will waste his time if he comes spooning around here. I wouldn't look at him twice."

These words were faithfully reported to the widower, and in one way and another the excitement was maintained for a week. Then an agent for a new liver pad came along, and people rushed to buy, and other things were forgotten. Then Moses Davenport went courting. His first call was on Mrs. Davis. No girl would have called it by that name. He talked about the weather, predicted a thunder storm and said it was his opinion that potatoes would be high in the fall. The widow agreed with him. She smiled and laughed as she agreed. She congratulated him on the way he looked, and when he advised her to set out her tomato plants early she said she would take the advice of a wise man and do so. No talk of admiration, love or matrimony, but a very pleasant call—so pleasant, in fact, that after Moses had departed the widow said to her old maid sister:

"Sarah, that man will ask me within three months to be his wife."

"How can you tell?" was asked.

"A woman's intuition."

"But he didn't say anything in particular."

"No. He just came spooning around. I hadn't seen him for six months, and he wanted to see if I had lost any of my good looks. I haven't, and he'll be back again."

"And if he asks you to marry him?"

"I shall say yes, of course, but not be in too big a hurry to do so. Didn't you notice his looks of admiration?"

The old-maid sister hadn't noticed any such looks, but she had no other home to go to and therefore answered that she had

On leaving the house of Mrs. Davis Moses called at that of Mrs. Elkins. His call was friendly. There was more talk about the weather and thunderstorms, and on rising to depart he said:

"Widow, string beans are going to be scarce and high this summer, and if I were you I'd get them planted a bit early."

That was the nearest to love he got, but upon his departure the widow said to her daughter:

"I can't afford to marry no such man."

"Why, is Mr. Davenport going to ask you to marry him?"

"He certainly is."

"But he talked about string beans."

"Yes, when you can get a widower to talking about string beans something else is bound to follow. It's but a step from that to matrimony."

"But I never heard of that before."

"There's a good many things you never heard of before. Now then, don't you go to telling around that I'm trying to catch Mr. Davenport, for I'm not. The poor man is lonely, and I may take pity on him, but you know I don't care to get married to anyone. Did you watch where he went to when he left here, as I told you to?"

"He went to Mrs. Stringer. Mebbe he was going to talk string beans to her!"

Miss Hetty received a box on the ear for her impudence, and for the next three days the mother flattered herself that her market was made. Then the widow Davis called, and after paying several compliments she remarked:

"Did you know it was all over the village that I was to marry Mr. Davenport?"

"No, I hadn't heard a word about it. He called here first the other day, but of course when he began to talk love I packed him off about his business. I can't afford to marry no such man."

"Nor I either. They say he shortened his wife's life by years with his fault-finding."

"The poor thing! He was just on the point of asking for my hand when I remembered what I had heard and changed the subject and shut him off. Neither one of us can afford to sacrifice ourselves for a man of his stamp."

"The same at my house. Well, I must be going."

The two widows were hardly a hundred feet apart when each one said to herself:

"The old cat! Does she think she has fooled me the least little bit? Mr. Davenport shall learn just what she thinks of him."

Next day the widower received two anonymous letters conveying the information, and a great deal more. He was advised in a paternal way not to trust his future to a woman who couldn't properly shorten a pie crust to save her neck; who made a bed with the foot the highest; who was certain to have lock-jaw some day from running a rusty nail in her foot because she would go around in her bare feet; who steeped over old coffee grounds; who had bad teeth. The above wasn't all. No names were mentioned, but he had no trouble in guessing who the writers were.

Mr. Davenport's response was immediate. On the very next day he called on the widow Davis to say:

"Widow, it occurred to me that you might be lonely."

"Dear me, but I can't tell you how lonely!" was sighed in reply.

"But matrimony is a dangerous thing."

"I've heard say it was, but—"

"The other day I called to advise you to set out your tomato plants early. I now advise you to do the same about your cabbages, and to forget matrimony."

Moses then made his way to the house of Mrs. Elkins and said:

"Widow, when I was here the other day, I advised you to plant string beans and plenty of them. If you are asked to marry refuse the offer stick to string beans. They never disappoint you."

"But, Mr. Davenport—"

"Sentiment — love — matrimony — string-beans!"

And to the widow Stringer he said:

"I called here the other day to ask if you had a catnip bed in your yard. I have now called to ask you to be my wife."

"But I thought—thought—!"

"Suppose we set the day for a month ahead?"

And after a blush and a wriggle and a stammer the day was set.

Waynesville, N. C.—Mr. F. R. Huffman, of this city, says: "I suffered dreadfully with what I thought was heart trouble, and tried various medicines in vain.

After other remedies had failed, Thedford's Black-Draught restored me to health. I would not feel safe without Black-Draught in the house. I consider it worth its weight in gold.

It cured my indigestion, and by this means I was restored to health. I can not express my gratitude for its benefits."
